

Planning Analytics Forecasting Model

Many organisations will now be having to estimate the impact of unpredictable market changes and worldwide events. For most, this is a long process putting strain on finance and IT resources, or relying on rushed broad-brush excel models.

With IBM Planning Analytics and Logicalis UK's project methodology, you can manage your planning needs in a scalable, driver-based model, allowing you real-time scenario modelling through a browser-based interface and in-built visualisations.

Plan for strategic and operational changes in a matter of minutes - not days or weeks. Quantify the impact of external factors and calculate the effect of the business decisions you could put into action, today.

We are offering a free-of-charge review of your planning capabilities. Get in touch today to find out more.
